Coronavirus Resources

We know that the current COVID-19 pandemic is impacting the health and well-being of our Slavic L & L community, and we hope that these links will help you in navigating these uncertain and rapidly changing times. Please reach out us if you have any questions or concerns we can help with, and please take care.

University of Washington General Information

Covid-19 Information

The University of Washington is operational, though spring quarter instruction, as well as the work of many campus offices, is being done remotely. For the most up-to-date information about UW operations, please see the UW COVID-19 Facts and Resources page.

Together We Will

The University of Washington is a community, and as such is united and committed to supporting the work of slowing the spread of COVID-19 and caring for those impacted by it. Visit the Together We Will page to see what you can do to help in these efforts.

Financial Support

UW Student Emergency Aid

All three campuses have Emergency Aid to support currently enrolled UW students. This aid assists students who are experiencing unexpected financial hardships that may disrupt their education or prevent them from earning their UW degree.

Short Term Loans

The Office of Student Financial Aid has short-term loan funds available for students who are experiencing temporary financial problems. Undergraduate students may receive up to $2,500, while graduate students may receive up to $3,200.

State Unemployment Benefits for Workers

The Washington State Employment Security Department has programs designed to help individuals and employers impacted by the COVID-19 outbreak. They also have an easy-to-read comparison guide, which lists some of the most common scenarios and the benefits that may apply.

WorkSource Critical Job Opportunities

Due to the COVID-19 outbreak, new needs have emerged in response to societal changes. WorkSource maintains a list of current Critical Job Opportunities.
